LOOK OUT! There are KILLER TOMATOES lurking here and their evil creator, Dr. Putrid T. Gangreen, snuck into this issue too. Of course, you won't have trouble outrunning Dr. Gangreen if you do your FOX'S FUN HOUSE fit exercises with J.D. Roth.

Get ready to chill out at ZAZOO U. and make friends with Boink and his pals. They've got some wacky school tips for you from their too cool school.

Fly with Peter Pan from FOX'S PETER PAN AND THE PIRATES and you'll never want to miss a single adventure. Even Captain Hook agrees.

Don't skip Pigwidgeon's friend Bo Bacon from PIGGSBURG PIGS as he chews the fat about some very special smart kids.

And wait until you read about how to take care of puppies by little Bobby from BOBBY'S WORLD.

Oh yeah. We're going to join the FOX KIDS CLUB EARTH CREW and learn great ways to clean up our community. And we've got a few eccentric ways to bash trash of our own. How about you?

Beat you to the Fuddlements page!

A FOX KID should know how to read because reading helps you with everything you do. If FOX KIDS can't read, how will they read their TOTALLY KIDS? Everyone should know how to read. I know how to read. But if I didn't know how to read, I'd want to learn. I think reading is fun.

Giovanni Hernandez, age 12

WTTG FOX KIDS CLUB
A FOX KID should know how to say NO to DRUGS. Why? Because they are really dangerous. That is very important to know. Just for keeps you should know how to read, write, spell, obey your parents and your grandparents. Then just for fun you should know how to dance.

A kid should be street smart! This especially means saying NO to drugs! Another thing is you should ALWAYS know and the emergency #911. To be street smart, you really can never rely on eyesight; you should rely on hearing and go with your gut! Street smarts are something people can use all of their lives. Being street smart is mostly using your common sense! And don't forget, if you want to be cool, stay in school!

FITNESS

with J.D. Roth

Hey Sports Fans, you don't need to be a majorly buffed dude to do some of the stunts on Fox's Fun House. But you do need to be in shape. First get into some comfortable clothes, something you can move and groove in. Then find a space that's clear of furniture, dogs, little brothers. And be sure to use a thick carpet, mat or blanket to lie on when you're doing the Crunches. Don't forget to breathe in and out during the exercise. It's a major bummer when you forget and pass out from lack of air. And have fun! Put on some great music and do it to the beat. Before you know it you'll be a lean, mean movin' machine.

DO THE SHAKE DOWN—Get that body warmed up and the blood pumpin' and jammin'. Make sure you do this for two minutes straight.

THE POWER THRUST PUSHUPS- The best way I know to do push-ups... making sure you dip into my favorite kinda pie—Peanut Butter Ice Cream! Do as many as you can, but don't bounce or rock. Keep it smooth and easy, lifting from the shoulders.

THE SHAKE DOWN AGAIN?— That's right! We've got to get the blood pumper back into normal gear. Keep moving for one

FOX'S FUN HOUSE RUN IN DOUBLE TIME— Four minutes of running in place. It's double the time you get in Fox's Fun House and the only way to get those heart rates up! When you think you're going to drop... keep going and imagine dropping down that cool white water slide when you're finished.

THE CHILL OUT—
 inish the workout, (with a few pickle
 and the new issue of TOTALLY KIDS.

FIND FOX FRIENDS AT FOX'S FUN HOUSE FOR MORE FUN ON YOUR FUN FOX CHANNEL. (Can you say it again faster?)

THE SLAM DUNK—
My personal favorite, following in the footsteps of the great Michael Jordan. Keep that body straight, bring the right arm up, over the head, bend your waist to the left and slam dunk with your wrist. Then try doing it to the right. Do ten for each side.

THE TOE JAM TOUCH– The only way to do the complete personal toe jam check. Stand straight, bend your knees slightly and fold over. Do this one about 10 times. Remember not to bounce, just slow and easy.

MAD about SCIENCE

with Dr. Putrid T. Gangreen

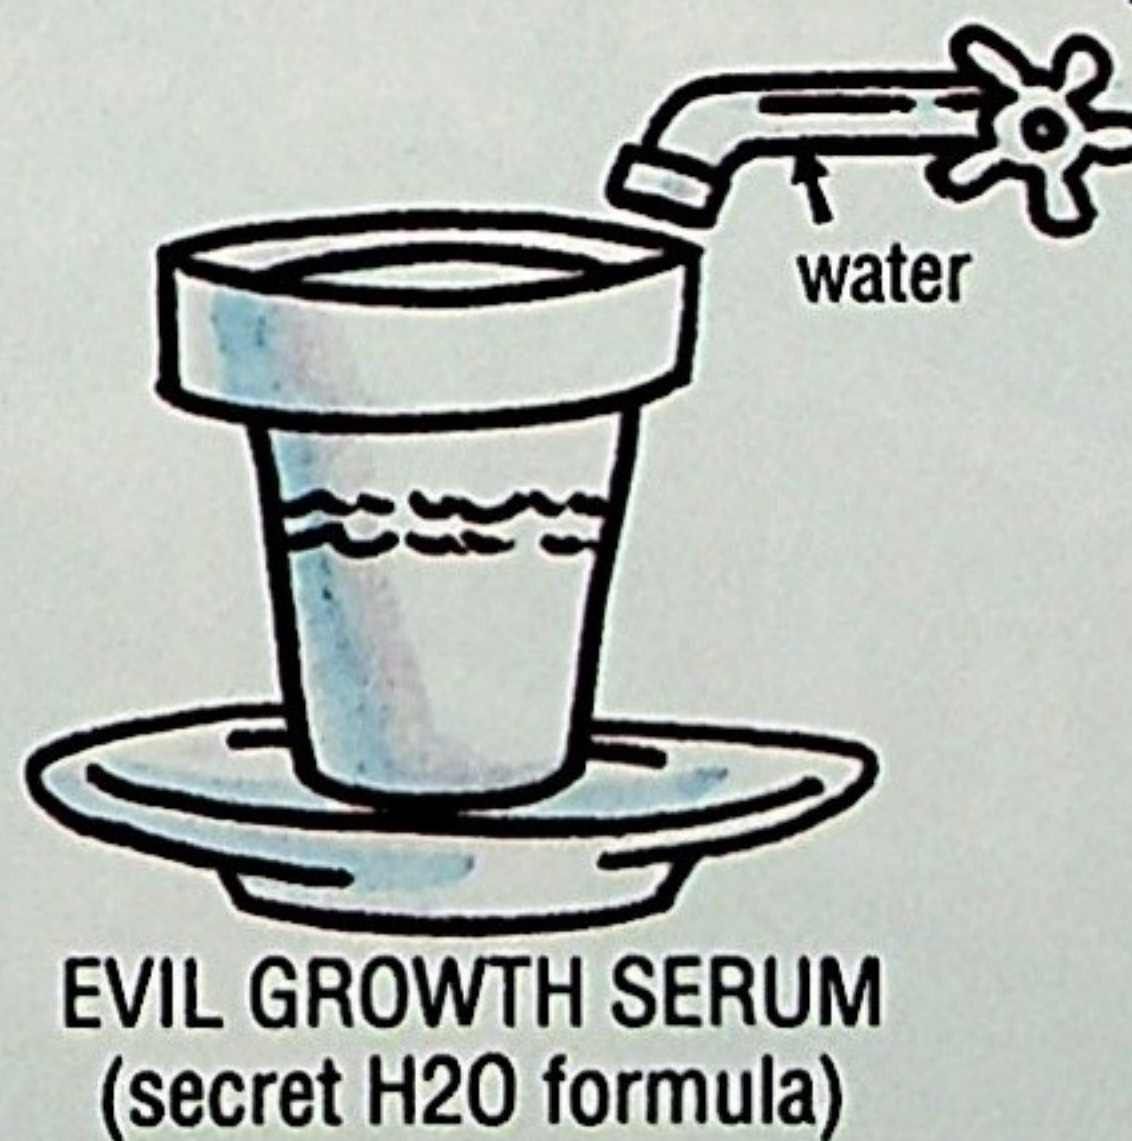

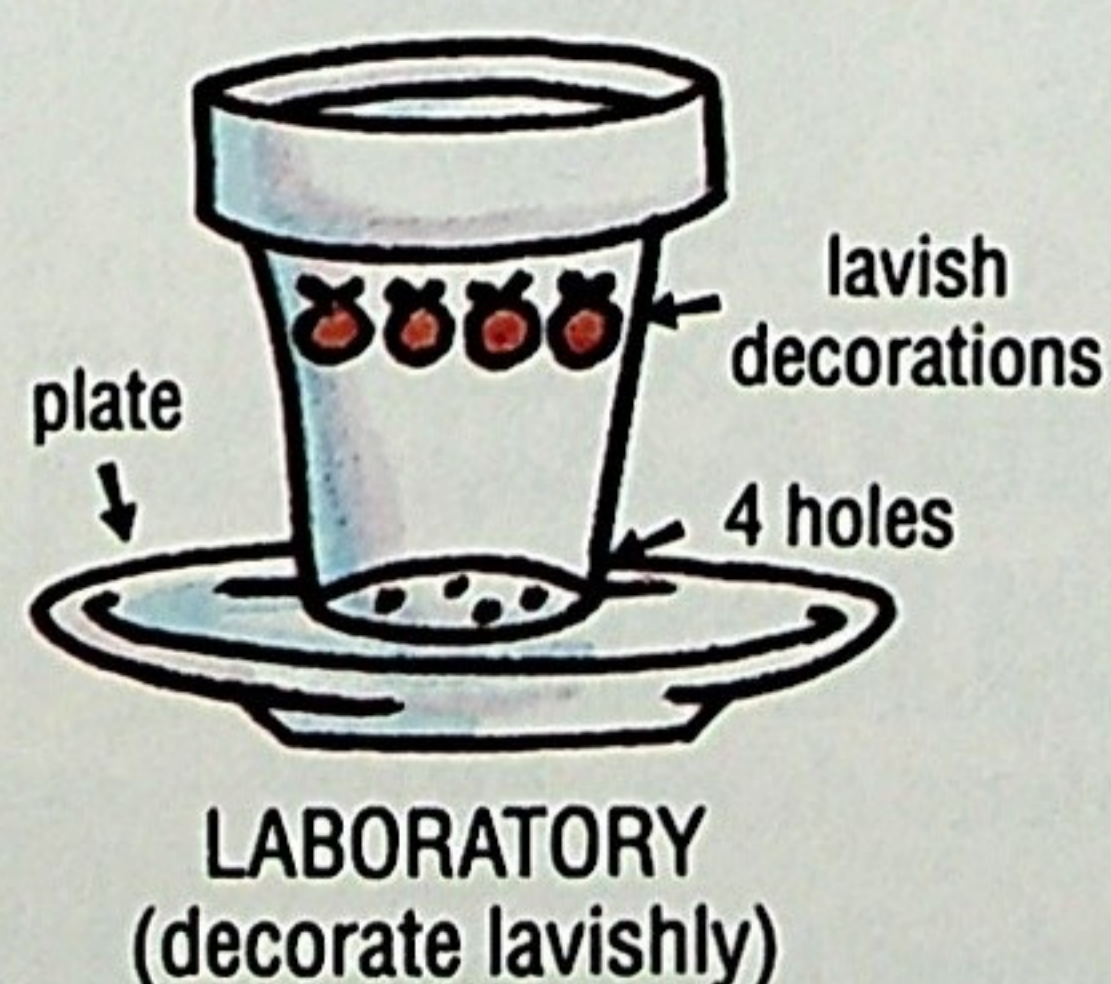

Tomatoes: Can you conquer the world using a vegetable... or is it a fruit?

You kids think it's easy to take over the universe with only a bunch of angry tomatoes to help you? Being a kid mad scientist isn't all that easy, but anyone can try. First, all of your hair must look like it is scared to death to be anywhere near your head. Secondly, you must have a hundred pens sticking out of every pocket, and all of them have to leak at once. Finally, you must wear glasses, whether you need them or not!

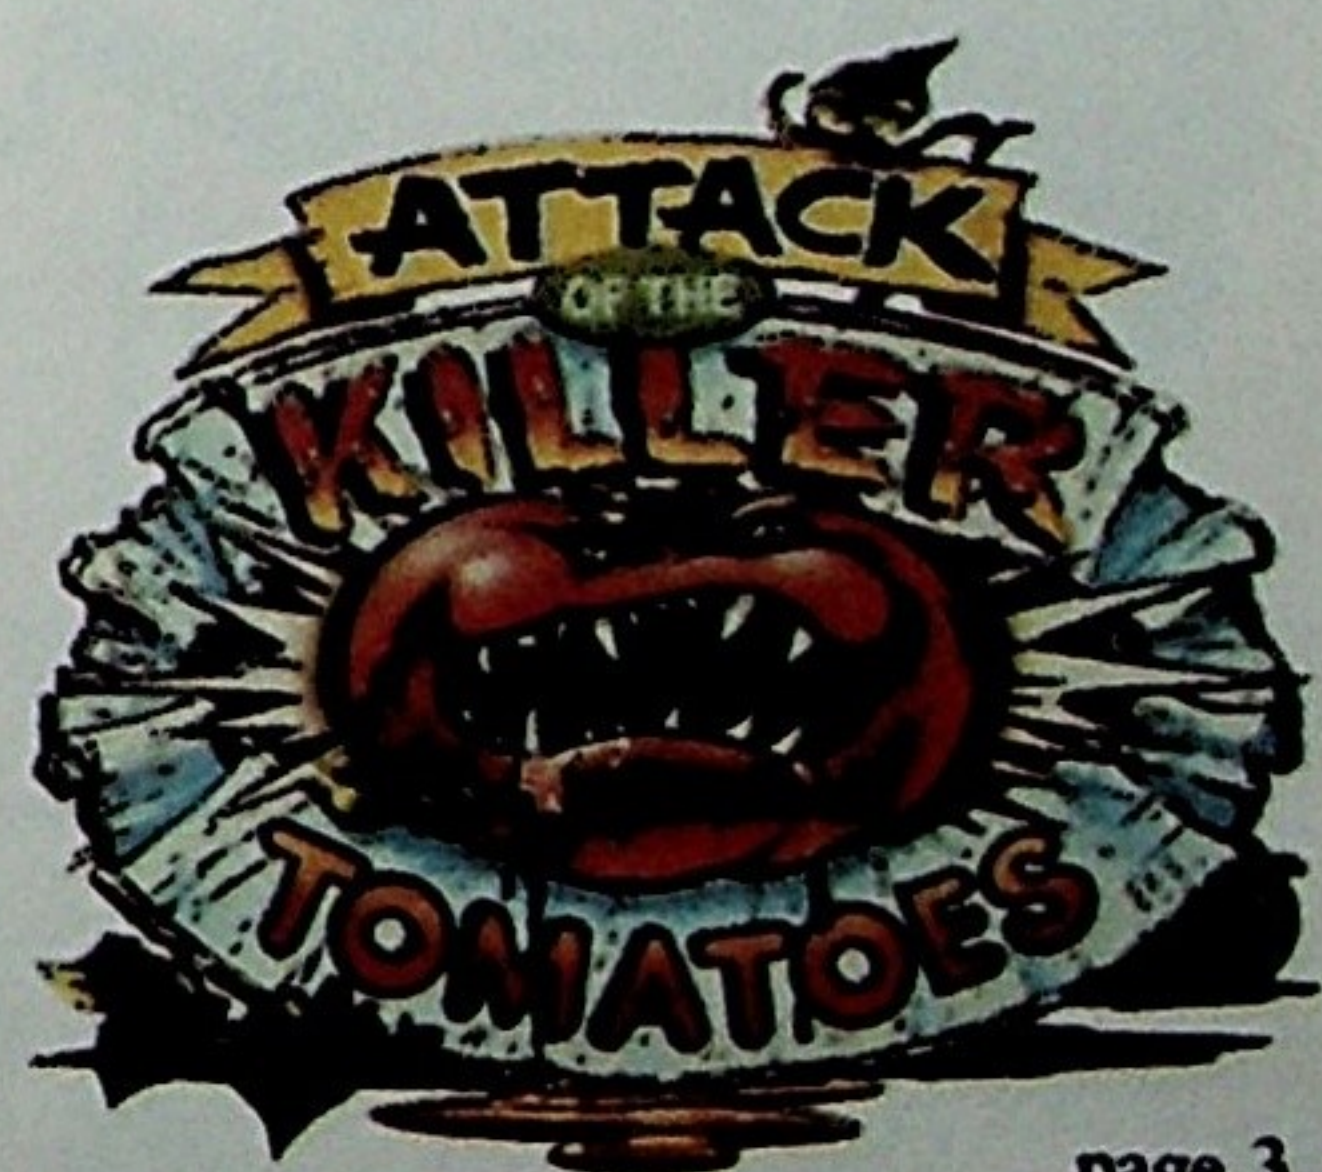

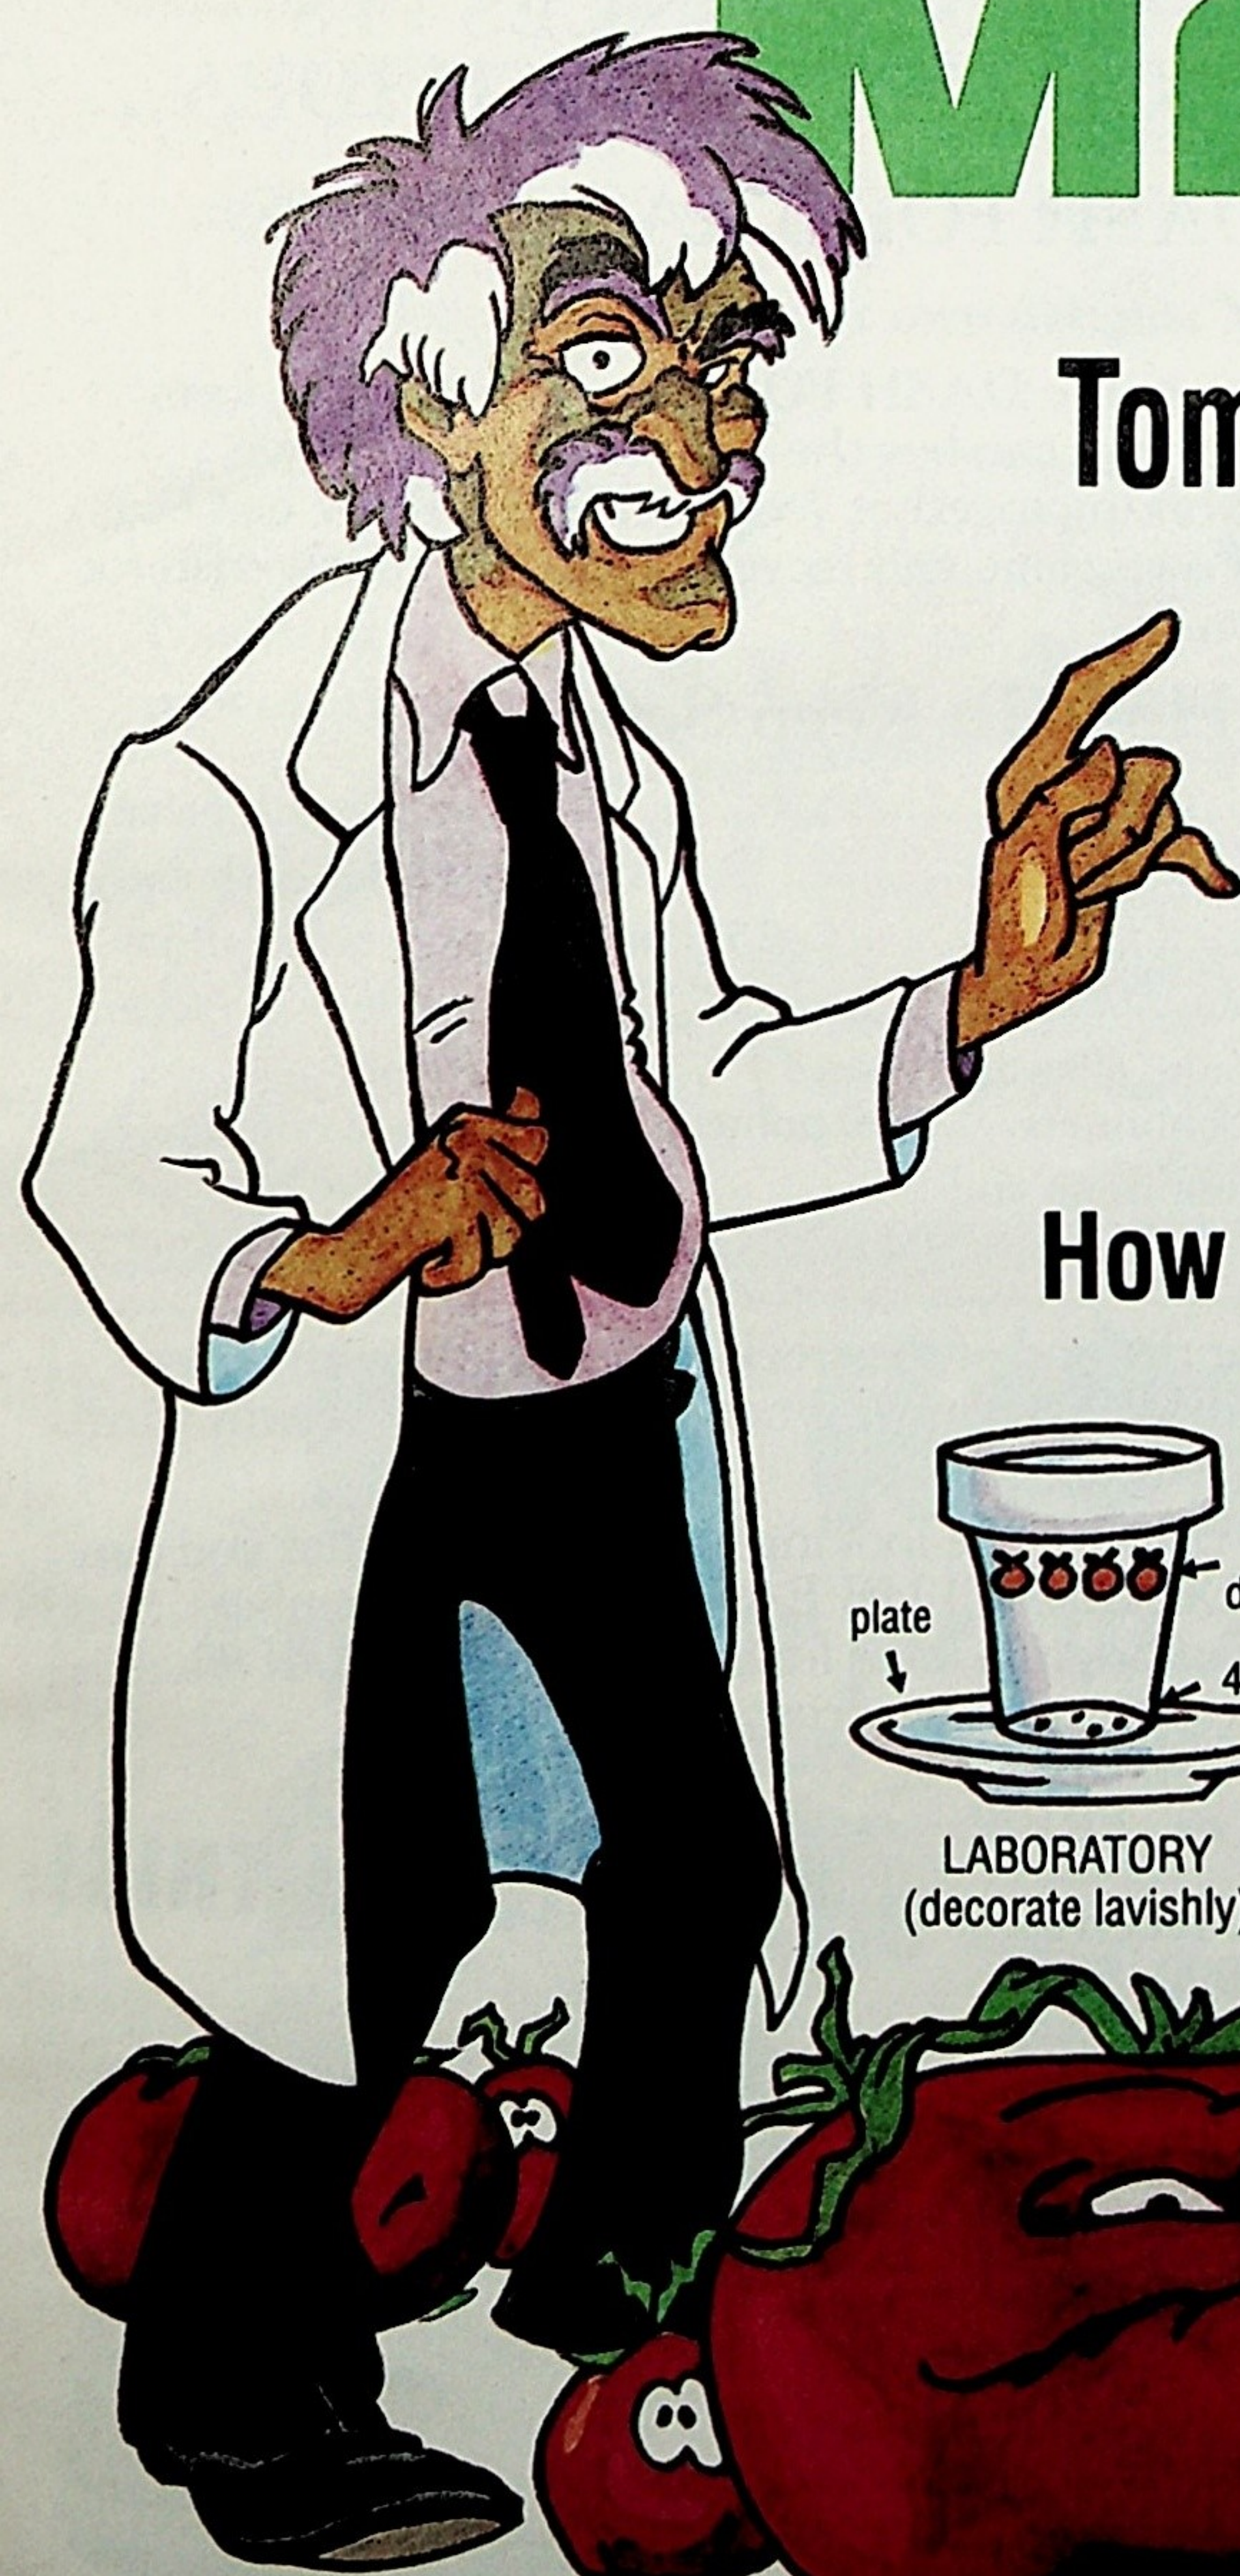

I create magnificent monster tomatoes in my lavishly decorated secret laboratory. I go for the big red ones, like that world record 7 pound 12 ounce killer tomato grown in Oklahoma by some guy with a 53 1/2 foot tomato plant. I wonder if he'd like a job?

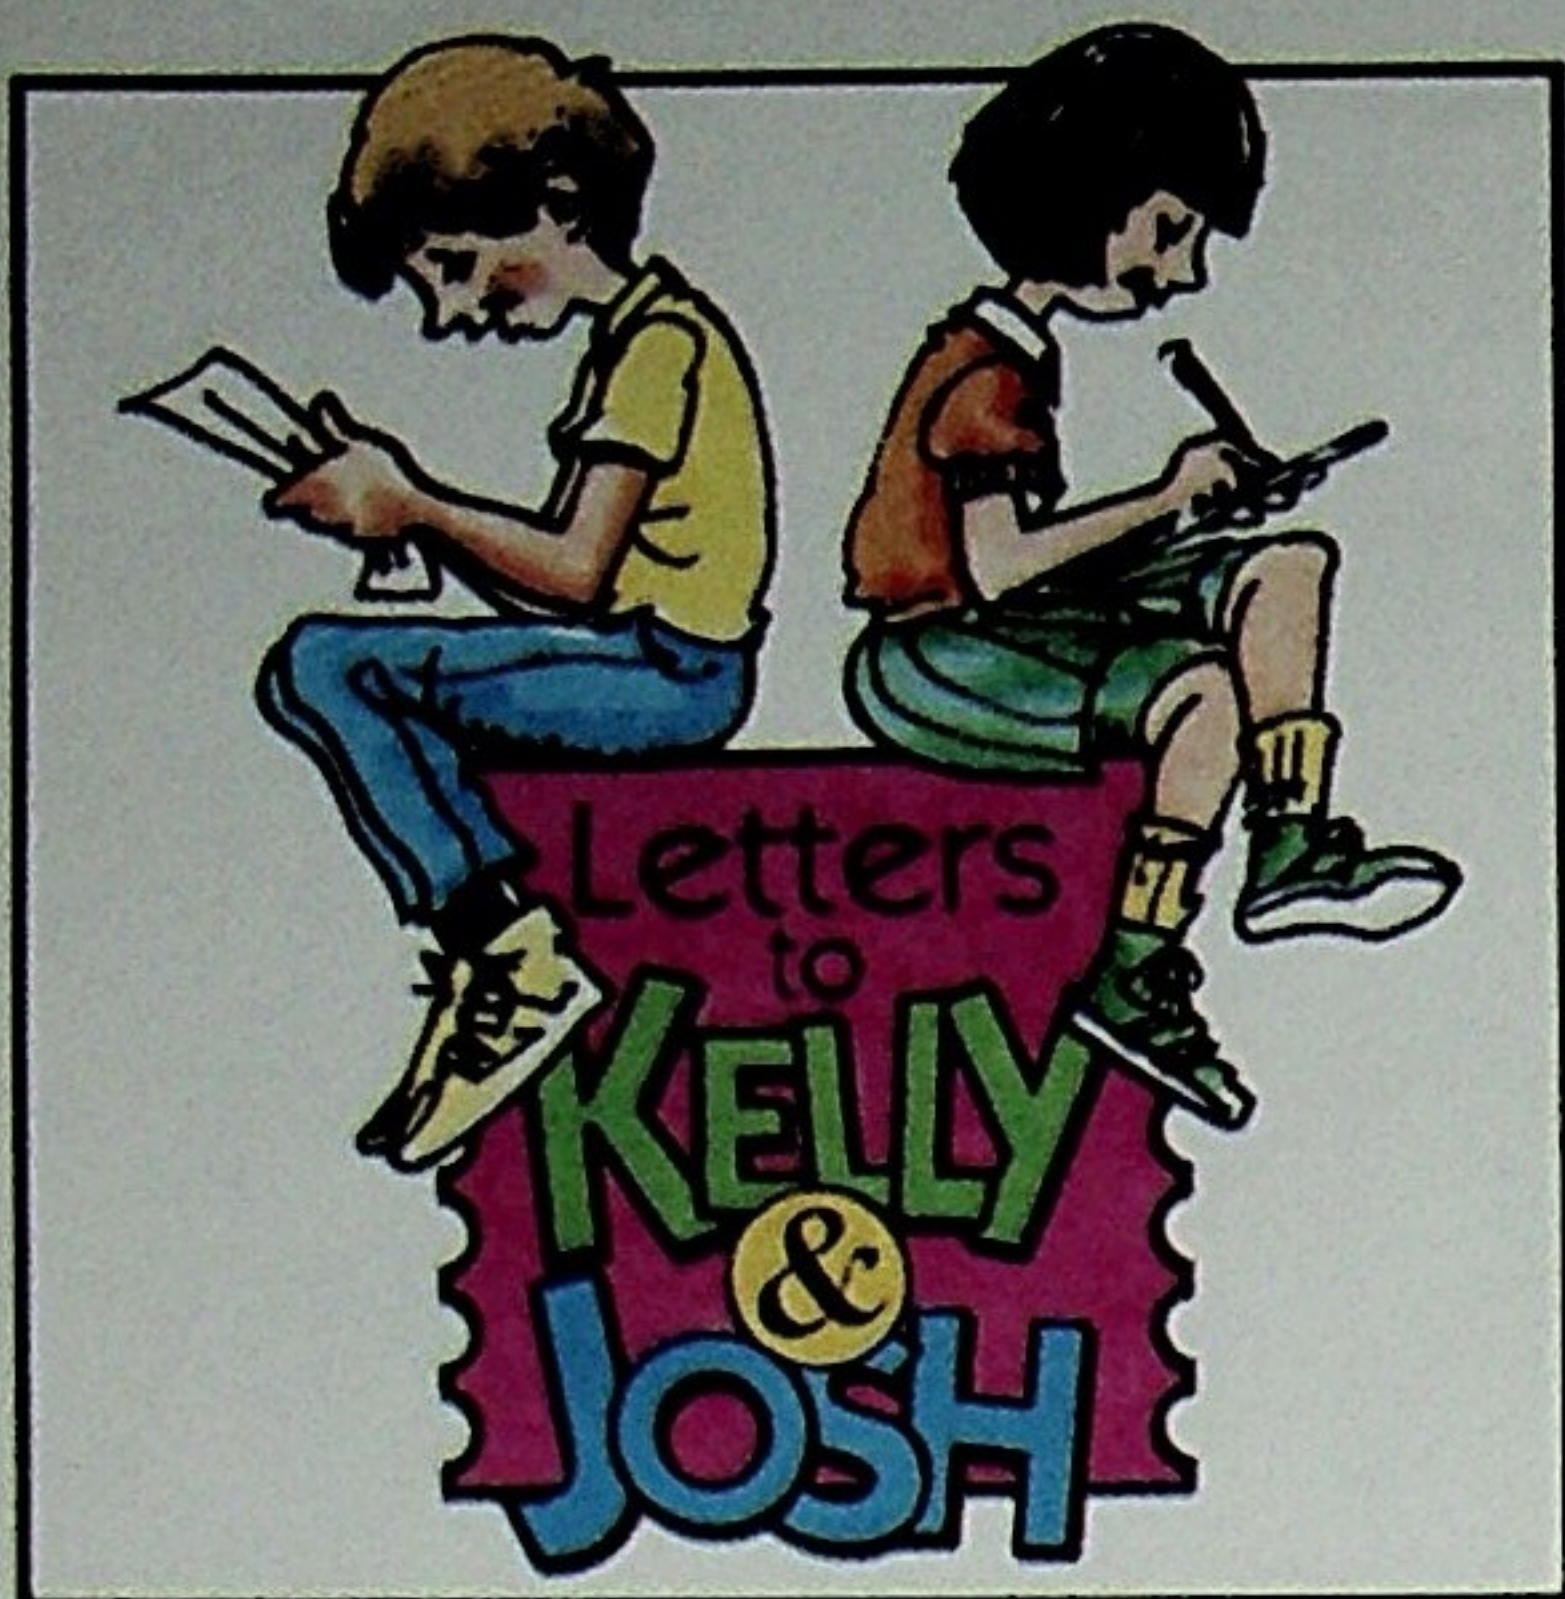

THEY'RE COMING!
THEY'RE COMING!
KILLER TOMATOES
are rolling your way!
Every Saturday morning on your (Aha! Ahahahahah!)
Fox Kids Club Station.

How to create (Aha! Ahahahahahaha!) your own killer tomatoes!

- ① Fill your Laboratory 3/4 full of Monster Mulch.
- ② Moosh one big red ripe Killer Tomato.
- ③ Scoop up all the ooey gooey seeds.
- ④ Poke holes in the Monster Mulch with your evil finger.
- ⑤ Drop one yucky seed in each hole and cover it up with Mulch.
- ⑥ Wet Mulch thoroughly but gently with Evil Growth Serum.
- ⑦ Keep your Laboratory watered and in a nice sunny place.
- ⑧ I can't wait for your first glorious Gangreen plant to appear!
Aha! Ahahahahahaha!

Dear Kelly & Josh,
My problem is, I try to fit in and have friends at my school. But, because I wear clothes I like, people make fun of me! What should I do?

UNDRESSY

Dear Undressy,
Looks like you've got some uncool kids at your school. But don't worry, every school has a few. We don't blame you for not wanting to follow the crowd. Just remember... originals are always more valuable than copies, so be yourself. That's all your really good friends would ever want you to be.

Kelly and Josh

Dear Kelly & Josh,
I'm afraid of my dog. I don't want to be. I love her. She is nice, like my best friend. But I'm worried every time I get off the school bus.

PLEASE HELP ME

Dear Please Help Me,
Sounds like your pooch is a little (shall we say) over frisky. Dogs can be like that sometimes. So stand your ground. Let her know this is not okay. Tell your dog, "Sit! Stay! Knock it off!" And you can take her to a dog obedience class where she'll learn to shape up. Check out the local parks for free classes...Hup, two, three, four!

Kelly and Josh

Dear Kelly & Josh,
We had a really hard math test and almost everybody got C's or D's. I got an A, and was I happy. When I told my friend what I got, she rolled her eyes and walked away. After that she was mad at me. Did I do anything wrong?
CONFUSED

Dear Confused,
Wow! Getting A's is never wrong. But can't you remember a time when you were feeling bummed out and everyone else was bubbling with joy? That's probably what happened to your friend. And if she's a real friend, she'll get over being mad soon. Maybe you could study together for the next exam. Wouldn't it be great if you both got A's the next time?

Kelly and Josh

Dear Kelly & Josh,
I just moved here and I don't have any friends. I need to know how to make friends.
A FRIEND IN NEED OF FRIENDS

Dear In Need,
It's hard to be the "new" kid on the block (unless you're a singer!) But you won't be new for long. Start by being friendly to one kid. Ask him (or her) one question like, "What do you like more than anything else?" You'll find out things you both like together. It could be TOTALLY KIDS! Now you have one friend, then friends of this friend, then friends of this friend's friends, then... it's out of control! Suddenly you're running for President of the United States! So start with "Hi!" You said it to us.

Kelly and Josh

Letters to Kelly & Josh is a real advice column for real kids with real problems. Tell us what's bothering you. We'll answer as many letters as possible in TOTALLY KIDS.

BO BACON'S

Not So Dumb QUESTIONS

DID KIDS EVER DO ANYTHING FAMOUS?

Of course they did! There are probably 67 famous pig kids in Piggsburg alone. There's... There's...well, there's me, Bo Bacon. And, even though he lived in Paris, France instead of Piggsburg and he was a 15 year old boy—not a pig, there was Louis Braille.

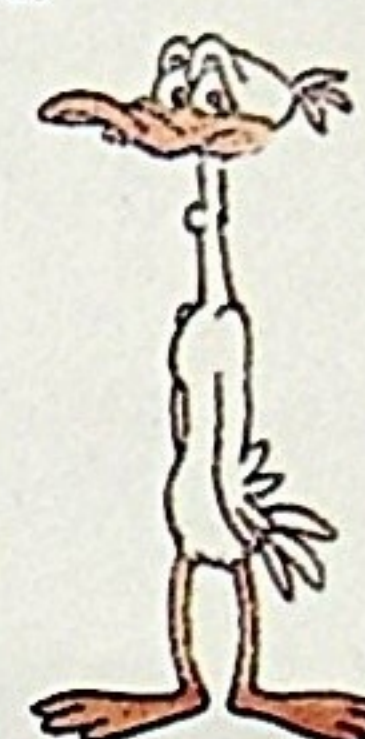

Louis was blind and in 1817 there was no way for blind people to read or write. However, Louis learned how to play the organ by feeling for the keys. He thought maybe people could read if there was a way for their fingers to feel the letters. Today, Louis' language of Braille bumps is used in printing, writing, and music.

If you want to find out what Braille letters feel like, lay this page on a thick newspaper and carefully press down on the bigger dots above with a ball point pen. Then, turn the page over, close your eyes and feel the letters. They spell FOX KIDS.

[The words below are backwards so when you turn the page over they will read forwards.]

Louis invented these bumps and got famous. Here are some other famous kids...

Tony Aliengena

In 1989, at age 11, in the 5th grade, he was the youngest pilot to fly around the world.

Chester Greenwood

Invented earmuffs in 1887 when he was 15 years old.

Nadia Comaneci

In 1976 she was 14 years old and the first gymnast to be awarded a perfect score of 10 in the Olympics.

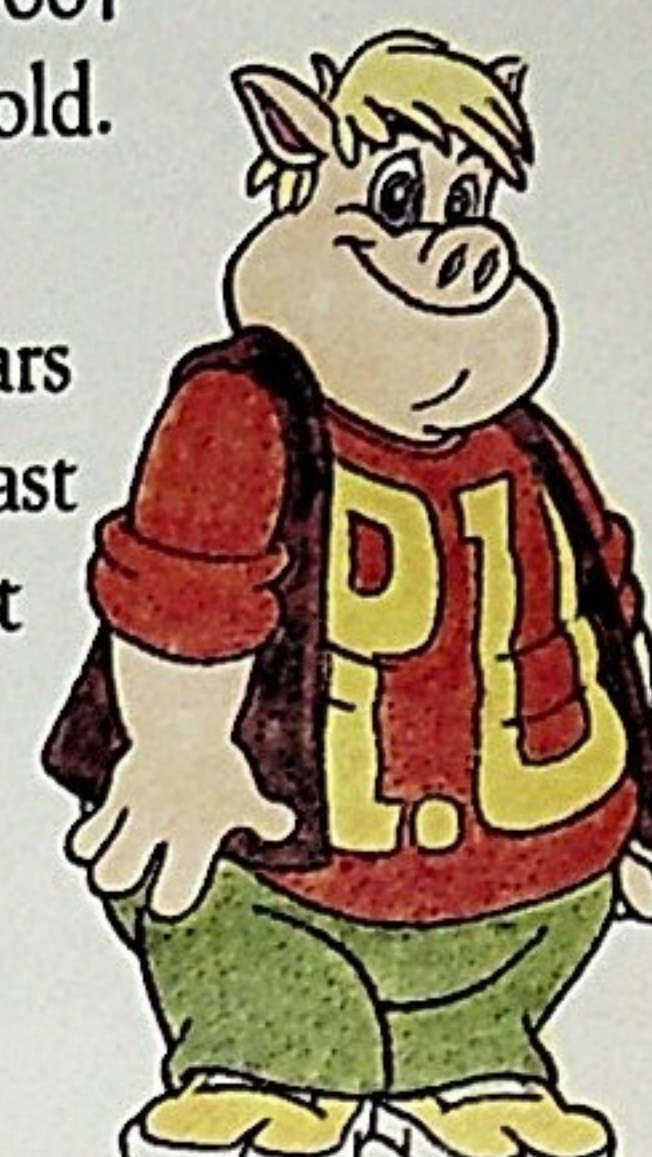

Edward VI,

King of England

Became King in 1569 at the age of 10. He is remembered for founding English grammar schools.

Stevie Wonder

At the age of 10, Stevie Judkins was singing and playing the harmonica on a street corner in Detroit. At the age of thirteen, as "Little Stevie Wonder," he topped the charts with a hit single "Fingertips." And he's blind too!

Wouldn't you rather live in an environment that's not all gooped up with lots of junk?

EARTH CREW ASKS...Who's Trashing Our Planet? From the looks of things lots of people...even kids! What bozos! So what are we going to do about it? BECOME AN EARTH CREW MEMBER!

EARTH CREW ANNOUNCES ITS FIRST FOX KID BASH TRASH IDEA...

THE DASH FOR TRASH GAME

Here's how it goes:

Get your friends to join the DASH FOR TRASH. You can form teams and see which team can bag the most trash in your own neighborhood. By working together your EARTH CREW can beat the trashers at their own game and recycling will put a little cash for trash in your pockets.

How To Keep Score

Picking up paper5 points for each piece
Picking up cans25 points for each can
Picking up glass25 points for each bottle or jar
Picking up plastic25 points for each piece
Putting paper, aluminum, glass and plastic into separate containers.....250 points a week for each container
Taking paper, glass, aluminum and plastic to recycling centers500 points each trip for each container

Add your score up at the end of the week and compare with other EARTH CREW MEMBERS in your neighborhood. Who will win? Why we all will, of course!

We got you started...Now we're looking for NEW ideas that you can share with other FOX KIDS CLUB EARTH CREW members. Send TOTALLY KIDS your original ideas for ways to bash trash. If yours is one of the five suggestions that we print, you'll receive a brand new pair of British Knights athletic shoes - FREE!

Suggestions must be received by September 30, 1990. Send them to:

Up In The Air

With Peter Pan

"I've never had any problem getting from one place to another. I just fly there. I live in Neverland where I zoom in and out of the clouds every day. Today, anyone can see the Earth the way I see it. Airplanes, hot air balloons, gliders and space shuttles would be four neat ways to get to school without having to walk!"

How Birds Fly

It takes strong wings and chest muscles and light bodies.

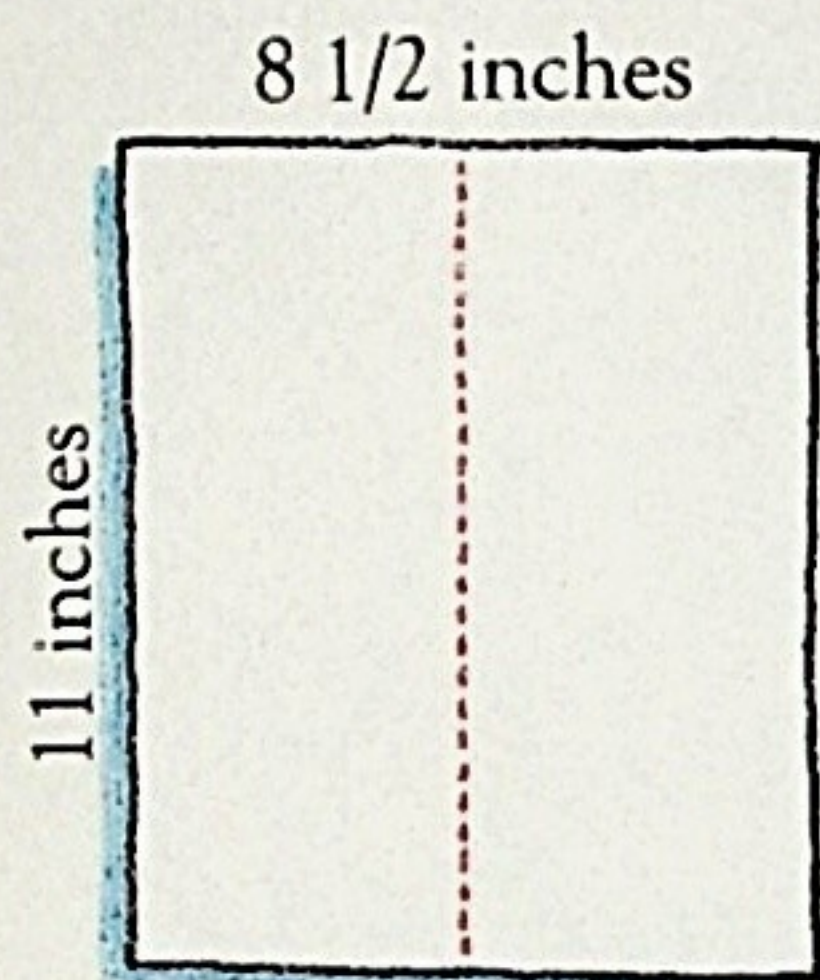

Feathers are tightly pressed together on the downstroke so no air can pass through. This propels it up up and wherever.

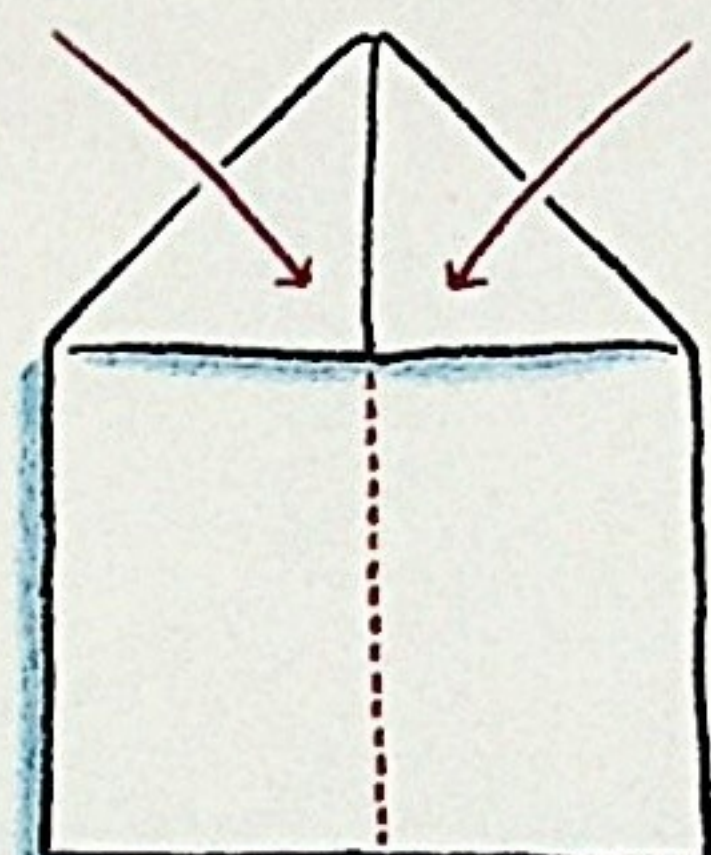

On the upstroke the feathers fluff open, allowing the air to pass through, making it easier to lift the wing.

How Gliders Fly

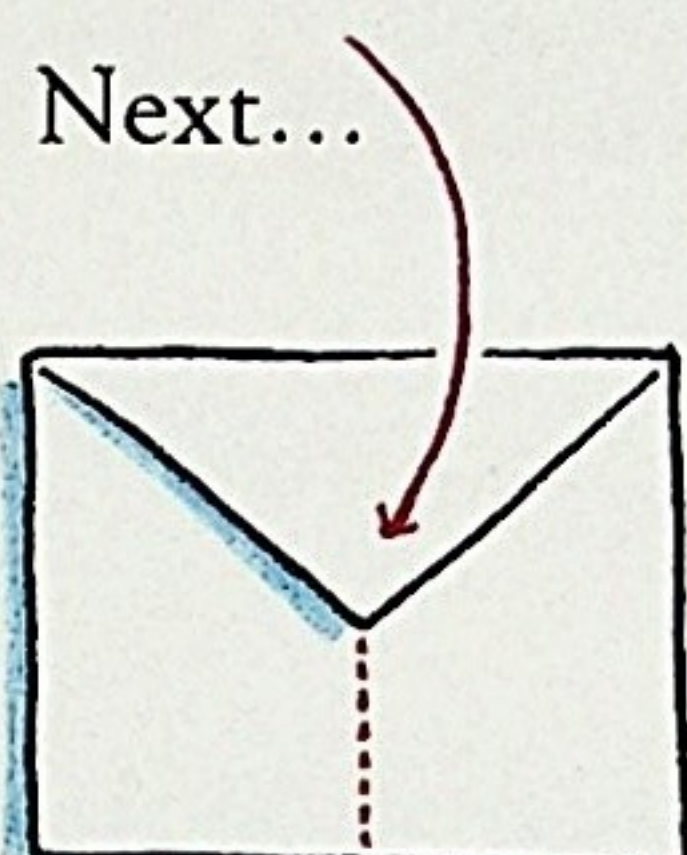

You can't fly like a bird yourself, so try this simple experiment. First, nab yourself a sheet of paper, then...

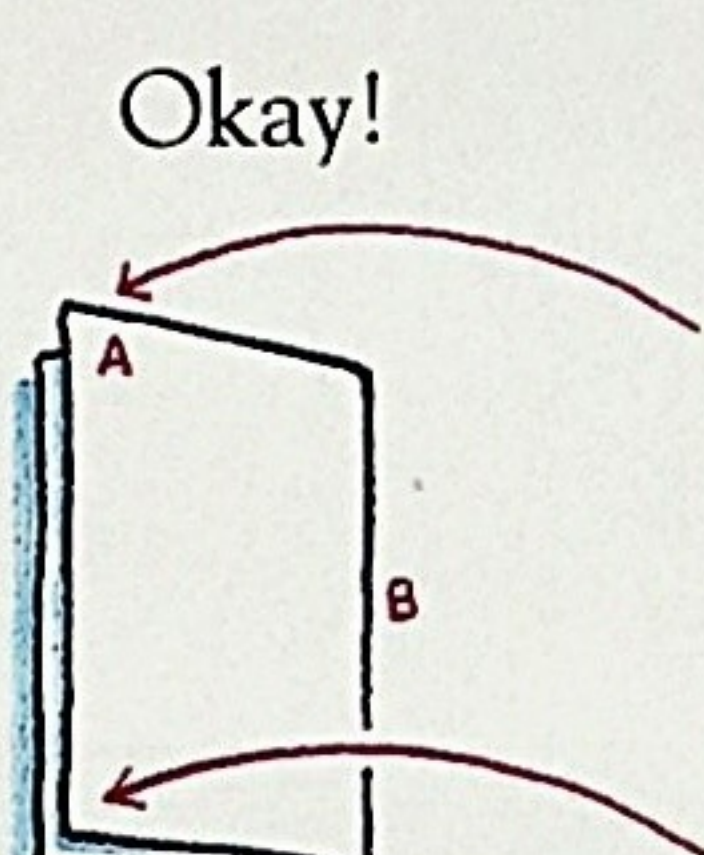

Make a crease down the middle then open it back up. This will make sense later.

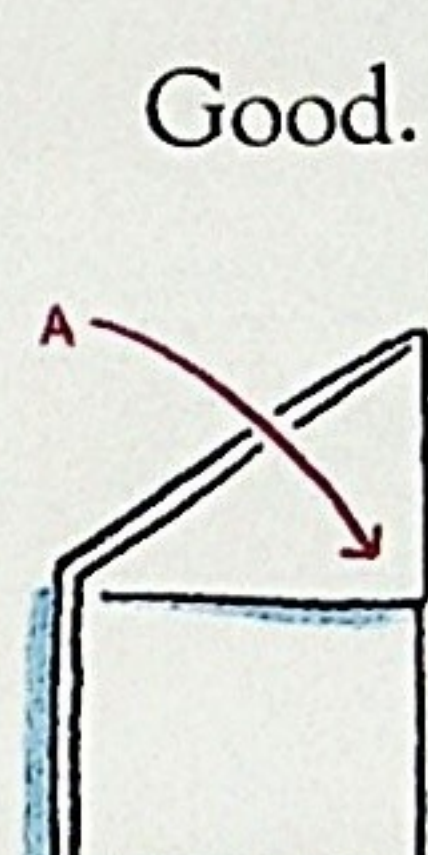

Fold down the corners of the top like this. Now your paper has a point on top.

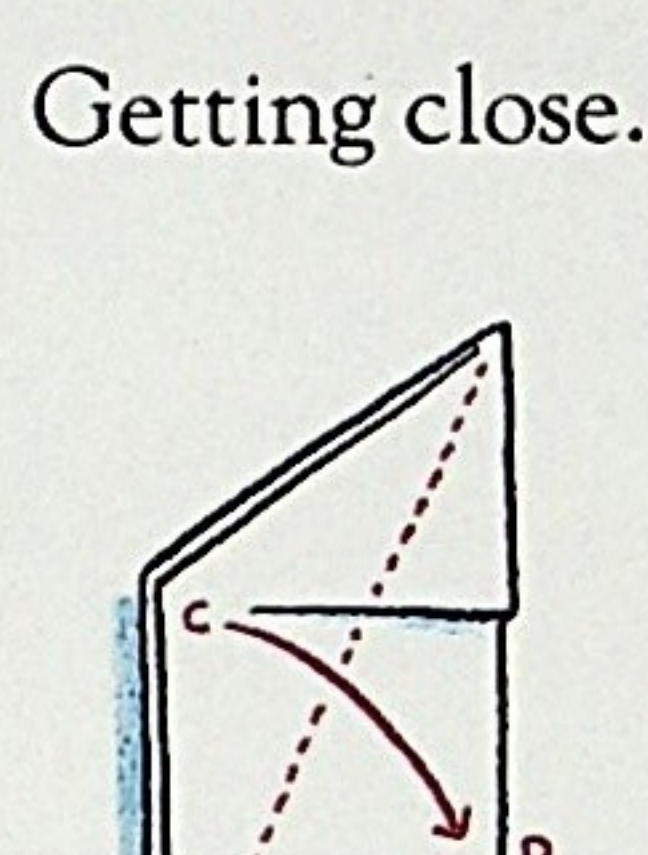

Next bend the point down. Doesn't look like a space shuttle yet does it? No.

Okay! Now fold it over from right to left.

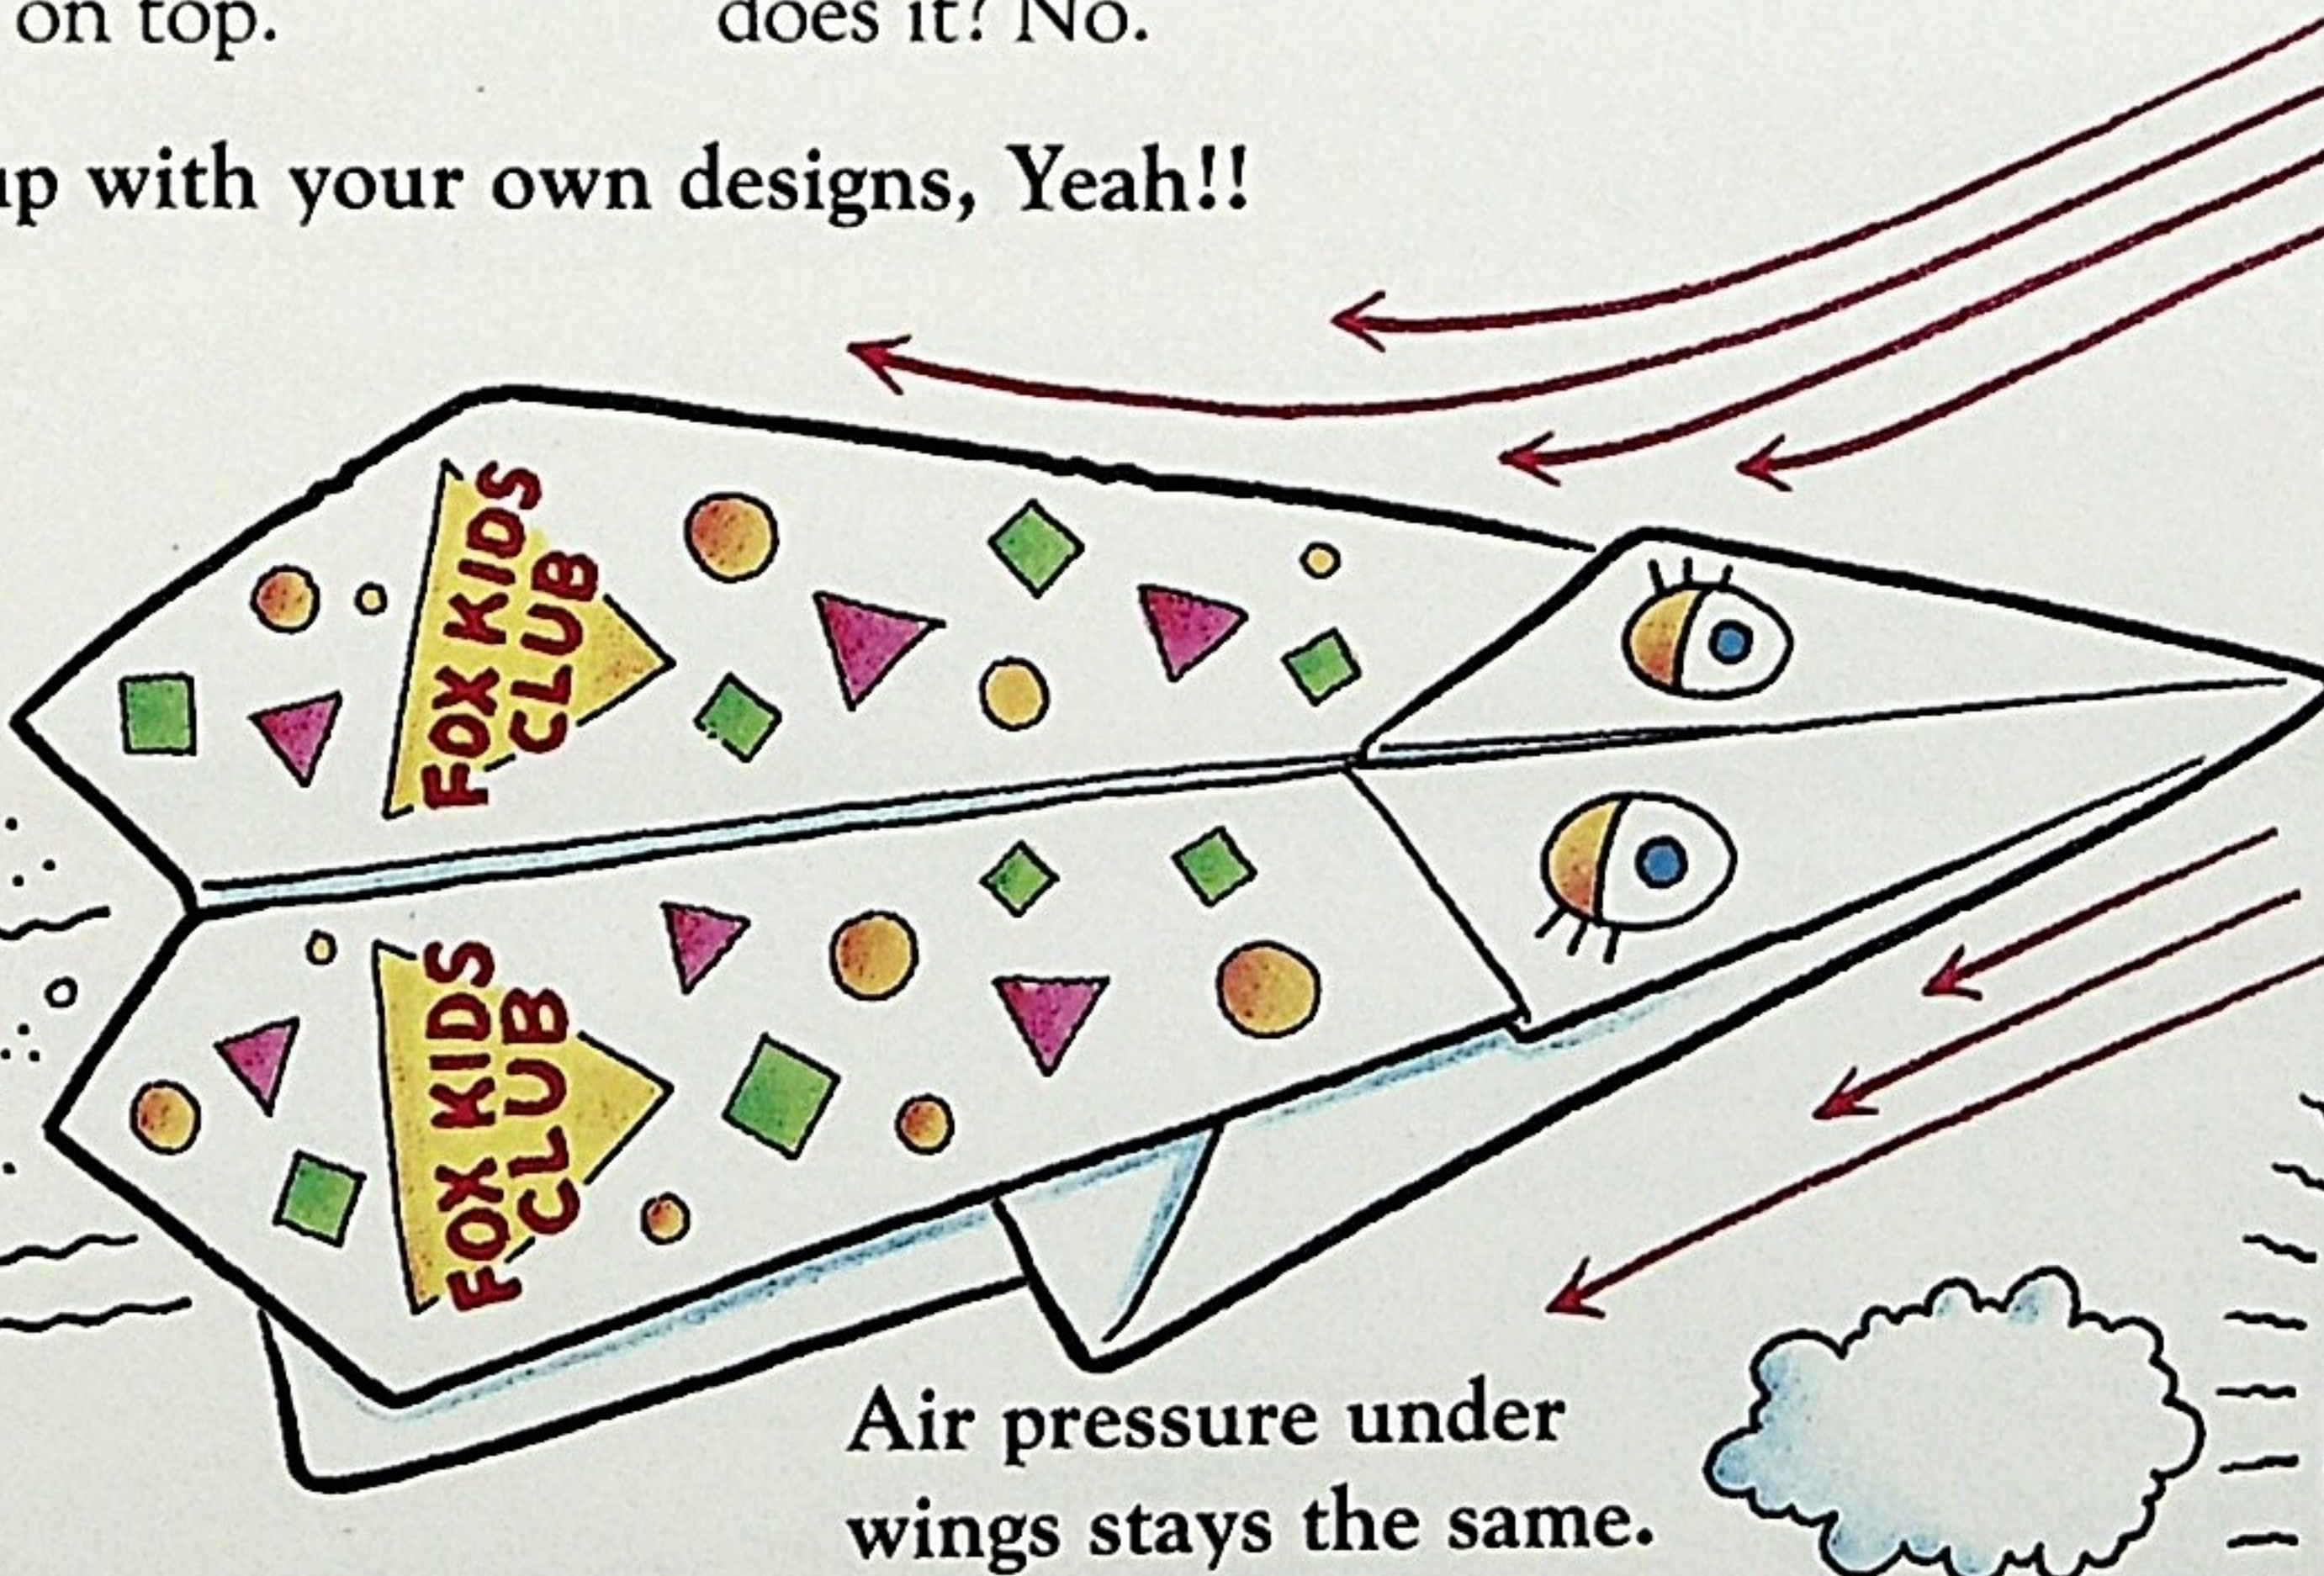

Good. Fold corner "A" over to "B". Then do the same thing on the other side.

Getting close. Fold corner "C" over to "D". Then do the same thing on the other side. Now it's ready to chuck.

Jazz it up with your own designs, Yeah!!

What? Fresh out of rockets? Use hand to provide thrust.

Air traveling over the top of the wing creates lift.

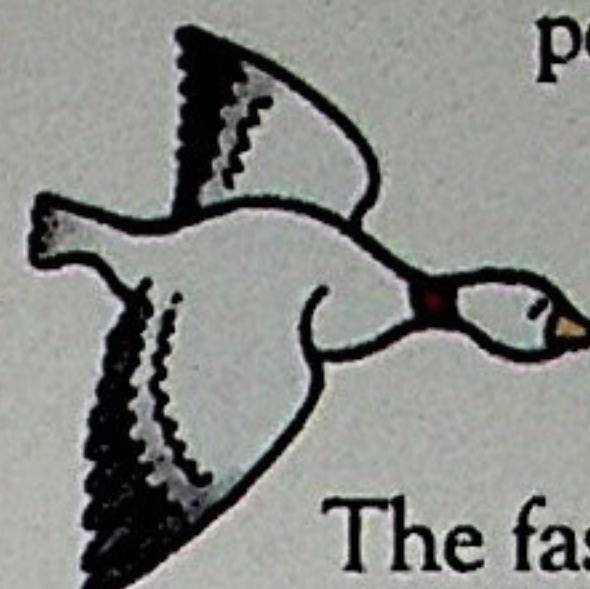

Air pressure under wings stays the same.

Bird Facts

How Fast Do Birds Fly?

Small birds can fly up to 30 miles per hour.

Ducks and geese up to 50 miles and hour.

The fastest birds are the "swifts" who fly up to 100-200 miles per hour.

The duck hawk dives out of the sky straight down at up to 180 miles per hour. LOOOK OUT BELOOOOOOOOWWW!!!!!!

Flight Facts

Ever since cavemen noticed birds soar, they wanted to fly. Men found lots of ways to get up in the air, but not many ways to stay there.

The ancient Chinese made monster kites.

Some were even big enough to ride on.

The first manned free flight (not at the end of a string), was made in 1783 by two Frenchmen, Jean F. Pilatre de Rozier and the Marquis d'Arlandes.

They floated over Paris in a large cloth balloon filled with hot air made from burning wool and straw. It's possible they also set a record for the world's smelliest flight. Wool and straw? Phew!

In 1891 Otto Lilienthal of Germany built and flew the first pilot controlled glider. Before that time the wind was the pilot and unfortunately, sometimes trees and buildings were substitute brakes! Ouch!

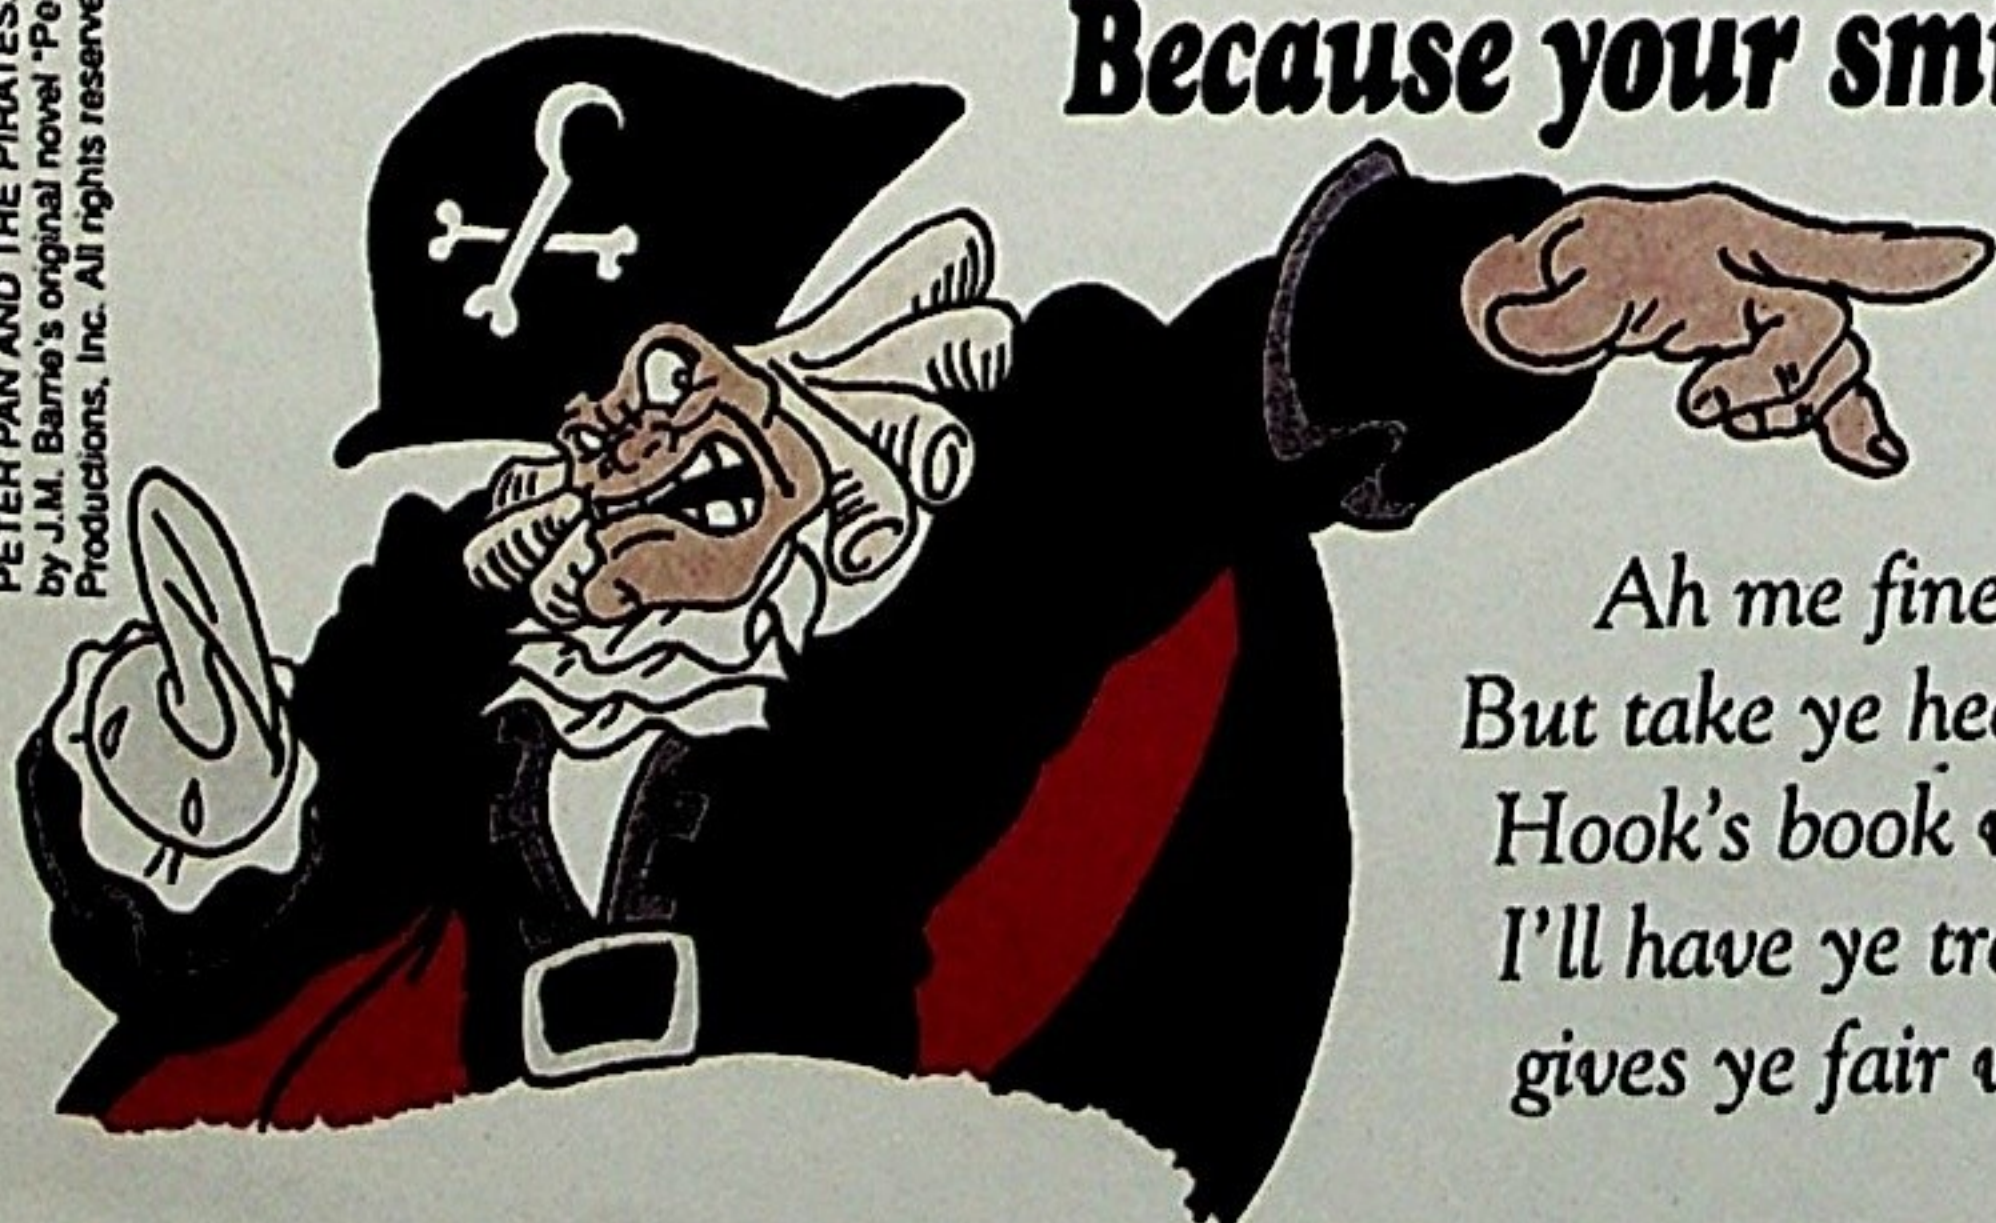

It was 1903 when two bicycle makers, Orville and Wilbur Wright, got off the ground in the first gasoline powered airplane that actually worked. On December 17 of that year the Wright brothers flew the "Flyer" 852 feet. That may not sound like a lot but have you ever tried to jump that far?

Since then, we've gone all the way to the moon. What would the Wright brothers think of that?

How do you know if an elephant used your toothbrush? It will smell like peanuts. HILDA GRANIELA, Bronx, New York, WNYW FOX KIDS CLUB

Dog House Logic

Dogs are just like people except they look funnier, have weirder smelling food, and need to be walked – even in the rain and snow. My dog Roger is a sheepdog and he sheeps all the time. The only time Roger is awake is when I want to go to sheep... I mean sleep. But I love him, and I've had him since he was real little. Here's some stuff I know about puppies.

If you pick up a puppy too much when it is young, it will never learn how to walk, and you'll have to send it to Dog Walking School.

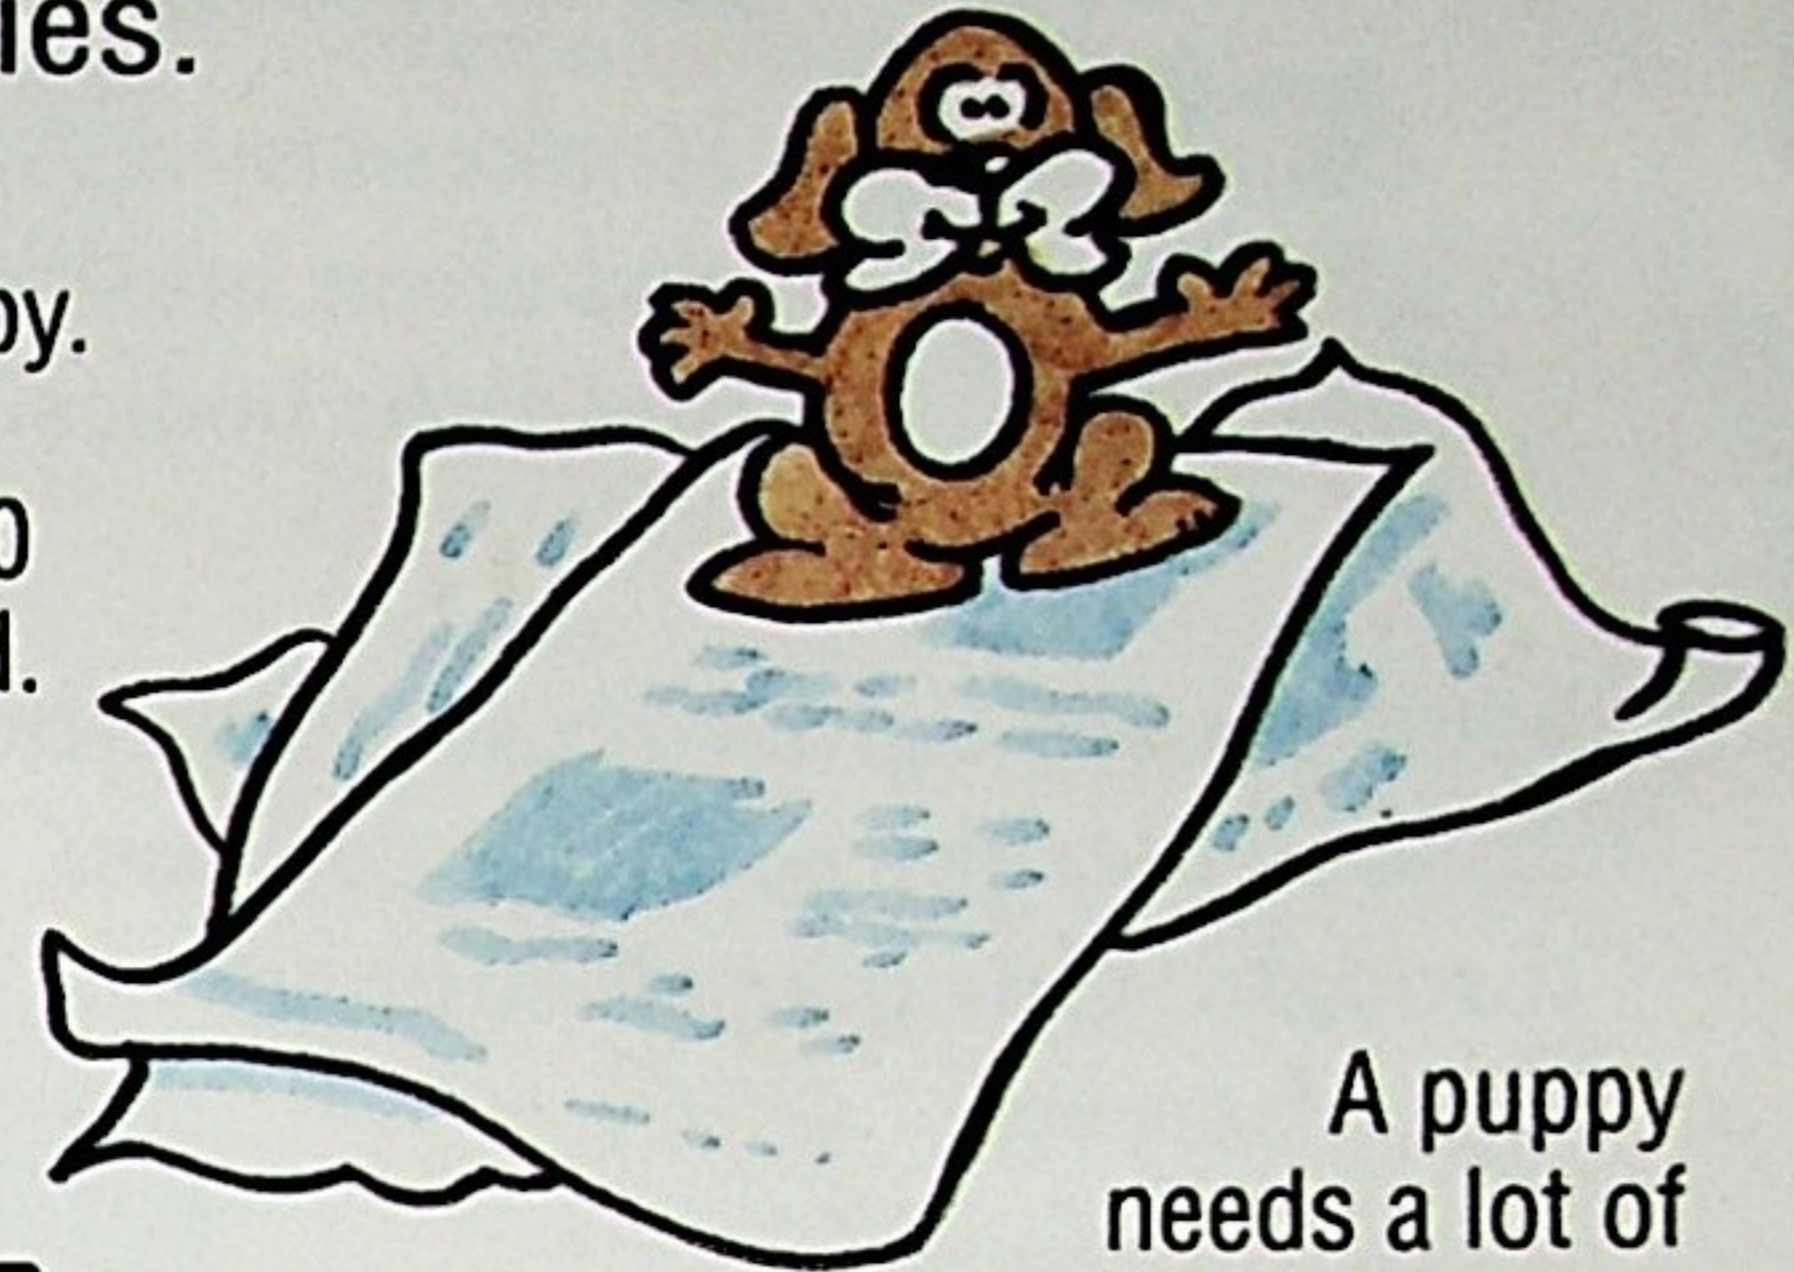

Puppies sleep a lot because they don't need to worry about homework or allowances or where to go on vacation.

Always play gently with your puppy. Your puppy will remember this kindness and when he weighs 100 pounds, he will still be your friend.

Teach your puppy to bark when he has to go out. Get down on your hands and knees and bark with him. Your dog may wonder about you (but your mother might let you both out!)

A puppy needs a lot of newspapers on the floor. When it makes a mess or a puddle, the puppy can read the funnies while you do the cleaning up.

SCHOOL TIPS

Sponsored by: Mead

Grizzle

There are two things I like about school: FOOD and Rarf raggin'! Rarf is my teacher, Ms. Devine's pet. I don't know what kind of pet he is. We don't exactly get along—well, we get along but not like most kids and animals do—we, ya know, like to chase each other! But he never catches me because I learned all about racing from the Bonito Brothers in my motorized desk.

Ms. Devine

PUH-LEEEEEEZE, we must always be fashion correct when we attend school! As a teacher and part-time school nurse at Zazoo U., I carry an entire rack of FAAABULOUS shoes inside my exceedingly high-fashion coat in case I step in some UNAMUSING chewing gum. As students, you mustn't wear anything unamusing, such as an ensemble that would frighten my precious pet, Rarf. You are students! Proudly dress as students.

Tess

Be sure you wear the right shoes to school. I need to wear my sneakers all the time. Ms. Divine gave me high heels to wear once (for her they're the meaning of life!)—but Boink had to get me training wheels because I kept falling over. Then I got rolling real fast and jumped three school buses. You should always wear shoes that are right for your life.

Rarf
